Maine Beginning to Reap Rewards

Evidence that Maine is coming into its own and is beginning to reap the returns from its publicity campaign is cropping out nearly every day. Harrie B. Coe, the manager of the Maine Publicity Bureau has received a letter from James Ashe, Publisher and Real Estate man of St. Petersburg, Fla., giving particulars of the development of a 5,000 acre tract of land which he is to develop this spring in the town of Wesley in Washington County. This land was open for sale in St. Petersburg and in a few hours of the first day, nineteen estates of five acres each were sold and the people who bought have stated that they are to build cottages and camps this spring and summer. These persons include bankers, doctors and lawyers, real estate men, merchants and in fact many representative of almost every activity in Florida. The party who is developing this property has options on several other tracts of land in the same section of the state.

New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are to put on an extensive advertising campaign the coming season which will attract a great many people to that local, undeveloped country and the more these people go to the places across our border, the more people we will have traveling the length and breadth of our state speaking up for the way and seeing the beauties which it offers for future consideration by them and their friends.

Another real estate development is near Casco, Maine, by Dr. S. Hancock and P. S. Cowell, president and vice president of the New York-Pennsylvania Realty Co. and St. Petersburg, Fla. They are planning to build a colony club house and community centre so that prospective buyers may live at the club house while building their summer homes and the club house will be developed as a civic centre for this summer playground development.

The property which has been purchased is in northern Cumberland County with five lakes within its border and with rolling country and some mountain peaks.

Fifteen St. Petersburg families have already decided to make Casco their home for the coming summer.

In addition to these developments at the eastern and western extremes of the state, there are other activities going on which are bound to mean much to the future prosperity of the state.

We should all put our shoulders to the wheel and help create the necessary funds to advertise our state for as has been so well said Mr. Garritt Port, vice president of the Boston & Maine Railroad, "our opportunities in Maine are of no earthly use if we do not improve them."

People all over the United States are thinking and talking about Florida and yet fifteen years ago Florida was not nearly as well known as was Maine. Advertising has done it for Florida and it can do it for Maine because while Florida had hardly more than a sand pile and tropical climate to start with, Maine has every thing scenic feature and a summer climate that cannot be equaled for comfort by any state in the union.

Insist Maine Raise Power Export Ban

Engineers of State Will Agitate Repeal of Law

Practically unanimous opposition to the state law prohibiting export of water power outside the boundaries of the state was expressed at the annual meeting of the Maine Society of Engineers. It was voted to be the opinion of the 40 delegates that the law should be repealed.

The only way to develop power resources of Maine is to permit export of power during the period of power development, according to Ralph E. Sawyer of Gorham, who engaged in a debate over the matter with Edward C. Jordan of Portland. Several hundred millions of dollars' worth of property now worth less would be available if power export is developed on a large scale Mr. Sawyer said.

A record of both sides of the debate will be printed and distributed among 108 members of the society, followed by a poll of opinions, it was voted.

Radiant Rhymes From Radioland
 "My Radio Fan," Mr. Meeker,
 "How do you like your 'loud speaker'?"
 "My wife overheard."
 "My wife overheard."
 "Now the 'Doc' says the 'Fan's' growing weaker."
 "A fellow who bought a new 'wireless,'
 "When overheard it seemed he was tireless."
 "Hid 'warm up,' I declare,
 "And about such 'hot air' as
 "That his wife for the furnace go fireless."
 —C. R. M.

Love Lorn Letters
 (Answered by Sentimental Sue)
 Question: "Dear Sue,
 "I have a girl but I'm sad.
 "She's something happened—made her mad—
 "I never night I meant to kiss her,
 "When dark she showed I missed her
 "And (oh smoke!) I kissed her sister."
 —Book from Hiram.

Fishin' Through the Ice
 When the sun is shining
 Higher every day,
 Time to hook the mackerel,
 In the pond or sea.
 "Pleasant bait and grub,"
 "Tack the robes around you,"
 "Get the axe and chisel,"
 "Don't forget the jug."
 "Away we go ad libitum,"
 "Sue's a bug in a rug."
 Now the pond is sighted,
 "Horse in some of holes,"
 "Pleasant bait and grub,"
 "Water and she's fed,"
 "Gather those dear old branches,"
 "Put 'em in the lake."
 "Gather and don't upset,"
 "That bait for goodness sake."
 "Gotta build a bonfire,"
 "For a score of holes,"
 "Set the lines a-bobbing,"
 "Flags, instead of fishes."
 "Go, the skimmer,"
 "Skimming anchor ice,"
 "Don't slip in these chocks,"
 "Take your dad's advice,"
 "Golly, there's a flag up,"
 "Run, you shaver,"
 "Hook him 'Bub' and no stock line,"
 "Or you will lose your skin."
 "Landed him by golly,"
 "Just fetch him here to 'popper,'"
 "Bub" swells out and points with pride:
 "Oh, gosh, ain't he a whopper!"
 "There's another flag up!"
 "Fetch him to 'Bub,'"
 "Sue's other end the ice,"
 "Keeps his mighty arm,"
 "There's a whopper like the grand old
 "Foolish" round the line.
 "Pull him quick there, 'sonny,'"
 "You done that 'jes' fine!"
 Air is sort of chilly,
 "Though sun is beating down,"
 "We won't know those kiddies,"
 "They'll be named so brown."
 "We're with smiles and laughter,"
 "Jes' dancin' in their eyes,"
 "As they race each other,"
 "Each time a signal rings,"
 "How the 'whoppers' and 'shooters'!"
 Plores the winter.

Oxford County United Parish

Last week our first annual winter carnival was a matter of antique and modern is a matter of memory. That the memories are so pleasant is due to the day that was a perfect carnival day to the happy crowd that gathered from the towns of the parish and nearby places,
 to the good natured rivalry in the different contests and to the preparations for the day that had been going on for several weeks.

Shortly after ten o'clock the contestants were called to the ski jump and the excitement began. The contest for the boys 14 and under was the first one on the schedule. Herndon Green placed first, with Stanley Lord, second; Dan Nason, third and C. Marr, fourth. In the senior event the first place was taken by Alfred Hersey, followed by Kiltredge, Noble in third place. In the event for the girls were on a par with the boys,
 for the jump for girls followed, won by Arlene Henley, who there started her large point gathering for the day closely followed by Mary and Leona and Kimball. The winners in the two cross country events found the going easy, each winning easily. In the senior contest, Roy Hersey was the winner, with Al-dred, second, Noble following in third place. South Waterford gained the lead in the person of C. Marr in the junior event, with Lord in second place and Brown winning over Green for third position. In the country race for girls, the carnival queen appeared among
 the winners for the first time in the day.
 The race was won by Ruth Holt, K. Lord
 and E. Merrill finishing in the second,
 third and fourth places. The event for the younger girls was won by Elizabeth Millett with Arlene Henley in second position, followed by Ruth Rounds and Mary Hersey.

It was at about this time that the attention was turned away from the more distinctly out of door sports to the race to the chicken dinner that was served in the vestry of the church by the ladies of the parish. The menu was a most delicious one, and the ladies of the parish were very successful in their endeavor to give a most enjoyable dinner.

There were other events on the program, however, and some of these were missed by those who lingered too long in the chicken dinner. The boys' ski dash was won by Stan. Lord, while D. Green, Rex Rounds, Jr. and Chas. Fillebrown finished in order. Elizabeth Millett won another first in the ski dash for girls,
 with Arlene Henley second and Leona
 Jones, third. In the senior ski dash, Tucker of Norway, finished as winner,
 with Roy Hersey, second; Chester Holt, third, and Alford, fourth. The children's race was won by Edith Holbrook,
 closely followed by Ronald Stearns,
 "Doc" John Hubbard, third, and Margaret Morse, fourth. In the smaller ones had their chance and in a most interesting race, Helen Waterford, won over Bill Bull on skis. This race should have been called the trot for 2 year olds. Isabelle Jones led the field in the ladies' ski dash, followed in order by Kathleen Lord, Ruth Holt
 and Mrs. Frank Pike. The young boys had their chance on skis and Alvin Hersey proved to have edge over Jeremy Henley. To the snow shoe dash for boys, the first place was won by Aldrich with Dan Nason, second. Dan third and Morrie Keen, fourth. In the senior event, Norway secured high placing Ashton and Noble in the lead, followed by Hersey. In the girls' ski dash, Leona Kimball gathered the high number of points while the second place was taken by Ruth Holt. In the ladies' and Isabelle Jones tying for third position. Ruth Holt added to her number of points by winning the ski dash for ladies, winning over Edith Holt, Arlene Henley and Edith Merrill.

In one of the interesting races no winner was declared. It was an interesting race, however, from the spectators' point of view. A number of penalties were scattered in a pile of snow. The youngsters then started from the mark to see who could get there first and gather in the largest amount. For awhile it looked something like a real busy time. We do not know who got the largest number. One girl came around later and tried to give back the five she found.
 We rather think she ought to have a prize for honesty, but hope she enjoyed the candy which she had well earned.

After several heats in the obstacle race
 the finals for skis was won by Tucker with Lord, Green and Hersey taking the other places; while Noble won over Ashton in the finals for those on snow shoes. In the relay races: The Canadian Huskies of Norway won over North Waterford easily. North Waterford also registered two wins over the Flat in both boys' and girls' events.
 The Norway boys with their bronco also won over the North Waterford team in ski jumping. In the relay events, however, after a good hard pull the United Parish team won the tug of war from Norway. This hard pull was followed by several others. The making up of the teams in these later events was uncertain, but the outcome was not so uncertain, for the side on which the Doctor pulled seemed to always come out in the lead.

After the different events on the program of sports had been run off the young people sought out the hills again and especially the ski jump. Here they enjoyed themselves until supper time.
 The supper was served in the vestry by the ladies of the North Waterford Grange.
 For the evening the L. O. O. F. Hall was crowded to the top. In the gayly decorated hall the first event of the evening was the crowning of the carnival queen. By securing the largest popular vote and third place among the girls in competition, Ruth Holt received the largest number of points, and was crowned queen. She was led to the throne by Rev. Arthur Townsend, where the crown was placed on her head by Stanley Lord, the high-point winner of the day and king of the carnival. The queen then presented the carnival ribbons to the winners of the different events. It is good to have a time to note the high point winners of the day. Giving 50 for 1st place, 40 for 2nd and 30 for the other three places. Stanley Lord topped all others with a score of 170 points. He was closely followed by the high point winner for the girls, for Arlene Henley gathered a total of 160. She was followed by Isabelle Jones with a total of 150; Ruth Holt with 130; Kathleen Lord with 110 and Elizabeth Millett with an even 100. Going back to the boys: Hersey and Noble each took out themselves 140 points, while Alford had to be content with 130. Looking over the list again it seems as though Alfred Hersey
 must also be named among the high point winners, counting his position in the ski-jouring race, he must have equalled
 the record of his older brother. Once more comparing the records, we think that we will have to admit that two A.
 Hersseys were added together to equal
 L. Hersey, but in truth there are no many of them to keep track of that we will have to refer this question to the clerk of the course. Tucker also is entitled to a place among the stars, having earned 100 points with two firsts. We would take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the coming of the team from Norway. They had a fierce sounding name, but they showed themselves real sportsmen, out for the pleasure of the contests. Their work on snow shoes was especially fine and their coming added interest in all the competition. Come again.

The closing event of the day was the drama, "Deacon Dubbs." This play was staged as you learned in the advance notices by the "Panous Players of North Waterford." To tell you the story of the play we will have to give you the cast of characters as they appeared, for the organization presenting the drama is really a constellation. The characters follow:
 Mrs. Philpina Popover..... Mrs. Anna Bull
 Yennie Jensen..... Miss Hazel Kimball
 Deacon Dubbs..... Frank Pike
 Emily Dale..... Mrs. Mary Holt
 Rawdon Crawley..... Earl Lobbey
 Rose Coleman..... Rev. Wm. Bull
 Major McNutt..... Melvin F. Knight
 At such a time as this there are some to whom special credit may be given for the success of the event. It is hard to mention a few, however, at a time when people worked together so willingly for the good of the cause. It is unnecessary to mention again the names of those who spent much time rehearsing for the play, but we may say that seldom have those taking part in a drama worked more thoroughly than did these. To Mrs.
 Holt, the manager of the evening's entertainment and the decorating of the hall and vestry and who showed the greatest from the very first may special appreciation be given for the success of the play. In the country race for girls, the carnival queen appeared among
 the winners for the first time in the day.
 The race was won by Ruth Holt, K. Lord
 and E. Merrill finishing in the second,
 third and fourth places. The event for

Lesson for March 14

THE LAST WORDS OF JESUS WITH HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 14:1-31.

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the way, the truth and the life."—John 14:6.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Tells of the Heavenly Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Wonderful Promises of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Counsels and Comforts with His Disciples.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ's Last Words With His Disciples.

The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. He had told them that He was going away and they could not follow Him. They heard that He was going away and they were flooded with grief. He consoled them by—

1. Pointing to the Reunion in the Father's House (vv. 1-3).

1. He Asked Them to Trust in Him Even as God (v. 1).

Faith in the God man Christ Jesus will steady them in any matter how intense the grief, nor how great the sorrow.

2. He Informed Them That He Was Going to the Father's House in Heaven to Prepare a Home for Them (v. 2).

He assured them that there was an abundant room in the Father's house for all. Heaven is an eternal dwelling place. Only those who enter who have made the necessary preparation here.

3. He Assured Them That He Would Come Again and Escort Them to Heaven (v. 3).

Jesus will wait for His own to come to Him, but will come and call forth from the grave those who have died and transform living believers and take them all to be with Himself in the heavenly home forever more.

II. Revealing the Way to the Father's House (vv. 4-13).

Jesus informed the disciples that they knew the place and the way to which He was going. To this Thomas interposed a doubt, in answer to which Christ asserts that He is—

1. The Way to God (v. 6).

He is more than a mere guide or teacher. He is the way itself. He is the door of the sheep fold; yea, the very entrance to the tree of life.

2. The Truth (v. 6).

He is not merely the teacher, but the Truth incarnate. In His incarnation the spiritual and material worlds were united. Therefore, every line of truth, whether spiritual or material, converges in Him. No one can ever have the real truth about anything who does not have Christ. In Him especially we have the truth about God.

To pretend to know God while at the same time rejecting Jesus Christ is utterly folly. Only as Christ reveals God can man know Him (John 1:18).

3. The Life (v. 6).

Christ is not merely the giver of life, but He is the essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the true sense. The truth which cannot be arrived at by intellectual processes. It is a mystery which can only be penetrated by faith.

III. Assuring Them That His Work Was to Continue (vv. 12-14).

Jesus' going away was not to end the work which He had begun. This no doubt reveals that through the ministry of the spirit-filled disciples the work which He had begun would assume larger proportions. After the Day of Pentecost the Gospel took a much wider range. During His ministry the message was confined to the Jews, while under the ministry of the disciples it was only limited by the world itself. The disciples' ministry was ushered in by the conversion of three thousand in one day.

IV. Promising Another Comforter (vv. 15-17).

The word "comforter" means literally one called to the side of another to give help, protection and deliverance. This comforter was the Holy Spirit. Jesus was the comforter while here in the body. The Holy Spirit was to be another comforter.

V. Assuring Them of His Return to Them (vv. 18-24).

Although Christ went away He did not leave His disciples as orphans. He is spiritually present with them always. The Father and the Son make their abode with the disciples who love and obey Jesus Christ.

VI. Assuring Them That the Holy Spirit Would Aid Them in Remembering and Understanding His Words (vv. 25, 26).

This the Holy Spirit does by illuminating the minds of the disciples.

VII. Giving the Legacy of His Peace (vv. 27-31).

By His peace is meant the serenity of soul which one enjoys who knows that his sins are forgiven.

Dependent Upon God

All men, whether they know it or not, are unconsciously dependent upon God, else no man could live out a day. The religious man is one who is aware of that truth, and who seeks by active choice and will to know and do the will of Him in whose great hand he stands.—Joseph Fort Newton.

Unkind Language

Unkind language is sure to produce the fruits of unkindness, that is, suffering in the bosom of others.

Maine Water Power Should Be Developed

South Paris Man Believes Maine Should Repeal Power Privilege Law

The water power in the State of Maine is the source of a large amount of controversy and dispute. That there is a very large amount of undeveloped power of almost incalculable value is not questioned, nor is there any question about its being developed and made to turn the wheels of industry.

The question is, what shall be done with the power after it is developed and ready to set to work and add to the revenue of our state?

For several years the legislators and presumably wise men that had something to do with making our laws, have seen fit to make such rulings that will not allow the power developed from our rivers to be carried beyond the State borders, arguing that Maine power should be kept in Maine for Maine people, and if business men seeking to do business want our power, they should locate in Maine to get the advantage of our water power.

Maine's Attractions

We, citizens of the State of Maine, naturally are proud of our native state. This is our home, and when we think of our forests, our lakes and rivers, our miles of sea-coast and unsurpassed scenery, we swell with pride with the thought that "Our lot is east in pleasant places," but to get at the practical side of our water power question, what are the good reasons for asking outside of the state parties to come here and buy our power that nature has so lavishly with?

I am not interested in water power company and have no object in writing this except to express my opinion of the present law which I believe is hindering the growth of our electrical development, and causing the state to lose a very large sum in taxes which could, and would be paid by large electrical developments, if we let down the bars and let the power go.

We are sending its power to the uttermost limits of development.

The lumber industry has no need of any greater amount of electric power than it is possible to get now. We do not need electric power to attract the thousands of tourists that come to see our wonderful scenery.

Wherever power is needed in the state, it is possible, or soon will be, to have it in abundance. If we could use all the power we have and not be able to get enough for our own industries, then we would be justified in saving it for our own people and our own industries.

The electrical development in our state is progressing rapidly and wherever power is needed, and it is a good business proposition to supply it, it will soon be there.

However, we have not made a mark on the possibilities ahead of the electrical powers of our state. A few of the larger waterfalls are harnessed and set to work, but there are hundreds of places where the power can be made when we have demand for it.

That demand will probably not come from the business industries in our State, as we cannot offer attractions sufficient to induce large industries to locate here, simply for the purpose of getting cheap power.

Need of Lower Freight Rates

Located as we are, in the northeastern corner of our country, a long distance from the market centers, we are at the mercy of the railroads and we have to pay freight rates that seem excessive.

In turn, the railroads need the rates, for their revenue will hardly keep the wheels turning under present conditions.

We are paying the railroads millions of dollars yearly to bring coal from Pennsylvania and carry the empty cars back again, and every year the cost is increasing and the uncertainty of getting coal is causing alarm.

We Run Our Trains by Electric Power

It would cost millions of dollars to electrify our railroads, but I believe the time will come when it will be done, and instead of spending a fortune every day in hauling coal, the coal mines, which should send the abundant power of our rivers as far as the copper wires will run our trains, to the state limits and as far beyond as we have power to run them.

I believe that our grandchildren will see the railroads of our country run by electrical power, and the state of Maine can send them a long way when we develop all we have.

The mouth of the coal mines will see tremendous power stations to furnish power for hundreds of miles, and the waters of the large rivers of the west and the Colorado river will send the trains to the Pacific coast.

This is not a day dream of things that are impossible, but what is already being done on a smaller scale. We do not know what wonderful developments the future is coining for us, and it may be that we may take power from the waves and the sun's rays, but we know that we can run trains, and it is only a matter of taking advantage of the abundance of power in our rivers and setting that power to work.

This cannot be done by drawing lines, and saying that we cannot send the power beyond our state limits, but must be done in a broad and far sighted way, not for ourselves and our generation alone, but for the good of our whole country and for future generations.

Supposing our legislature should pass a law making it impossible to send power out of the state, making it illegal to send power out of the state, making it impossible for us to send our lumber beyond the State line, because we need the power and the paper and the lumber for the up-building of our State and for the comfort of our own people.

To think of such laws is ridiculous and the man that would offer such a suggestion would be voted into obscurity, as he would deserve. "There is, That Scattereth and Yet Increaseth"—There is, That Withholdeth More Than is Meant, but It "Tendeth to Poverty."

These words of Scripture were written long before man knew anything about electrical power, but no better advice can be followed by those having the making of our laws, and if it is made possible for our electric companies to furnish power wherever needed, regardless of state lines, and for any purpose, we will be developing our State and bringing an enormous revenue into our state treasury.

TARIFF ORIGIN

CLARK TRACES PROTECTIVE IDEA BACK TO PETER THE GREAT

Editor of Norway Advertiser:

Let me be understood as having made an unwarranted assertion when you kindly allow me to relate that the question of Henry Clay's status as inventor or discoverer of the idea of a protective tariff was carefully looked up, before writing the statement that the idea was current in American political literature before Clay entered public life. Also please let me outline those facts.

Probably not the earliest instance of such a tariff, but the earliest which has come to my attention is that decreed by Peter the Great, Czar of All the Russias.

The great feature of his reign was the introduction of western European civilization, including the so-called "mechanical arts," and used various means to sustain those industries which he planned in his country, and one of those means was a protective tariff. This ought to be easy to verify in Norway Public Library. It hardly seems as if Peter the Great, who has had received the idea from Henry Clay, for the famous Czar died in 1725 and Clay was born in 1777.

The big historic protective tariff, the one which familiarized the statesmen of the entire world, including the United States, with the protective tariff idea, was that of England.

The cantata, "The Swallow," by the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grade girls was a quite long song-play, which contained several solos by different ones and the swallow was impersonated by Louise Devine.

The teachers and pupils feel very pleased and grateful for the cooperation of all who helped to make this affair so successful. The supper and entertainment was a success.

The Parent-Teachers' meeting was held Monday night, March 8, in the assembly hall of the schoolhouse. It was voted to discontinue the hot lunches as there were so few who required them now. The Educational Committee volunteered to put on an entertainment providing all would aid her for the benefit of the Health Department, and they voted so to do. Voted to have a lecture on the care of the teeth by a representative of the State Health Department, with moving picture illustrations. Following the business was this program:

Piano solo.....Mary E. Patch
